Cebula Designs Inc. is an interior design firm dedicated to creating dwellings that personify a client's lifestyle and aesthetic sensibilities. Headed by interior designer, Michael Cebula, and general manager, Jeffrey Adams, Cebula Designs creations have graced the covers of national leading home magazines. Michael has also enjoyed the limelight as guest designer on New England Cable News (NECN) "New England Dream House", Boston's interior design television program.

The firm's portfolio runs the gamut from expansive contemporary condominiums in New York City's Soho district to prestigious houses from West Palm Beach to Boston's Back Bay. And, Cebula Designs art division is growing rapidly as their sophisticated clientele require art ranging from decorative to collector quality.

The protection of the firm's pristine creativity is an integral part of all Cebula proposals, with their recommendation for the installation of Vista® SpectraSelect Solar control window film to safeguard clients' furnishings.

Vista® SpectraSelect allows sunlight to shine brightly through glass, illuminating interiors, and providing high visibility while taking the heat (near infrared) out of the sun's rays and totally blocking ultraviolet light. Ultraviolet light and heat are the principal causes of fading of furnishing fabrics and carpets, as well as fine woods, antiques and artworks. Views through glass fitted with SpectraSelect 75 usually appear to be more sharply focused than through untreated glass. The nearly invisible film will not change the appearance of the glass.

"We recommend that the finishing touch on all our projects be Vista® Window Film for a lifetime of protection." quotes Jeffrey Adams. "It's just the appropriate thing to do to protect our clients' treasures."
